

To All High School Lincoln-Douglas Debaters

Are you currently struggling with...

- ...brainstorming fresh ideas for new cases on LD topics?
- ...finding books/authors/sources that strengthen your cases?
- ...organizing your cases so that they are clear and convincing?
- ...identifying flaws in old cases in order to make them better?

The Trinity Briefs Case Consultation Service Is Here To Help!

What Is It?

The Trinity Briefs Case Consultation Service (TBCCS) offers private, one-on-one instruction to LD debaters of all experience levels. We teach the basics of good case writing, serve as a sounding board for topic-related ideas and questions, and provide feedback for cases that have already been written on any LD topic.

We do not write cases for LD debaters — We teach LD debaters how to write good cases for themselves.

How Does It Work?

TBCCS consists of audio conferences delivered live over the Web. Utilizing the “Talk” feature of AIM—a popular Internet messaging service—TBCCS gives debaters the opportunity to work with Mahesha Subbaraman—a current LD coach and founder of Trinity Briefs—on brainstorming new case ideas, developing workable case outlines, finding case-related resources, and revising cases once they’ve been written.

And unlike standard teleconferences which usually involve per-minute phone fees, the use of AIM Talk is free for all parties involved, requiring only the installation of AIM on one’s computer and a working AIM account.

To learn more about AIM and/or how to install AIM on your computer, please visit www.aim.com

How Much Does It Cost?

TBCSS operates on a flat, per-hour fee basis: $10 for the first hour, and $7 for every hour thereafter.

Participants choose how much conference time they wish to purchase and how the time is to be used.

Why Should I Use It?

1. Because we can help you brainstorm ideas for your cases that you may not have considered before.
2. Because you need a sounding board for your thoughts, doubts, and questions about new LD topics.
3. Because we can point you to valuable topic-relevant texts and authors that you may not be aware of.
4. Because we can provide you with instant feedback on whatever case ideas/outlines/drafts you have.
5. Because we coach at your convenience to meet the demands of your busy life and schedule.
